

WALKING

GIRLS....MEET THE BOYS!

THE "LOUD" BOY

This boy is very easy to identify. Generally found stalking the streets with his mates, this boy likes to whistle and shout at you from across the street. A common misconception with guys is that us girls enjoy this. IT'S NOT TRUE! Us girls don't like getting involved with these guys; they are scary and show themselves as insensitive. (We like getting the compliments though!)

THE "BOY NEXT DOOR" BOY

Not so easily identified. This boy is perfect. Sometimes found with headphones on, sometimes with his hands in his pockets or sometimes even with a skateboard. This boy looks ahead of him when he walks, showing that he is confident, friendly and approachable. If he catches your eye as you walk past, he's interested. Smile back and say "Hi!" and he won't have the heart to ignore you. This boy is for keeps!

THE "SHY" BOY

The shy boy can be identified quite easily. Normally seen walking quickly, he may have earphones in and will definitely be looking at his feet. This boy is quiet and shy, he doesn't like eye contact and he doesn't find making friends easy. If you want to catch this type of boy, give him a small smile and build it up from there!

THE "TAKEN" BOY

Finally girls, how to identify the boy that is already taken. Obviously, most are found with a girl on their arm. On the other hand, not only do they have a spring in their step, they can also be found walking really fast. If you glance at him and he isn't looking or turns his face away, he is taken. Or I'm afraid he isn't interested. He is sometimes found walking and looking at the ground in front of him, so he don't catch any girlie gazes. But don't get him mixed up with the shy boys, he isn't shy. He just doesn't want to be unfaithful to his lucky girl!
