Kingstonian Football Club

By Ramanan Gukathasan and Vicki Exworthy

Every young lad has a lifelong dream, they dream of becoming a professional football player and representing their country... ok, let's cut to the chase; they want to grow up to earn megabucks whilst playing for a premiership club. Some of them never make it that far, but there are a few who go semi-professional. We tried to get an interview with a pro at Fulham, but sadly they didn't have time to talk to us so we went for the next best thing: Kingstonian Football Club.

Our journey to see Kingston's home grown talent began on the 131 to Kingsmeadow, to watch Kingstonian's home match against Dulwich. The match was an exhilarating one, far more interesting than watching England; there was pace, creativity, skill and commitment. They won 3-0 in a highly entertaining game. Afterwards, we were lucky enough to catch up with Craig, Mark and Michael, three of their star youth team players.

We interviewed them with some cheeky yet informative questions. Enjoy the interview!

You guys alright?

Yeah not bad, not bad. What about you?

Yeah, I'm not too bad myself. We've just got a few questions for you guys, is that alright?

Yeah sure, go ahead!

What made you get involved with football?

Well my uncle got me involved.

My dad got him involved.
