

COOMBE BOYS AND COOMBE GIRLS PARTNERSHIP

*In January 2006, Beverley Boys School was taken over by Coombe Girls School's head teacher.
Now Beverley Boys School is known as Coombe Boys School.*

Below is what some of the pupils from both schools think about the partnership of the schools.

PUPIL'S POINTS OF VIEW

Jamie Vickers, pupil from Coombe Girls School
6th form, age 17:

"I think the idea is great and both schools can benefit from it. I hope the federation is a success".

Anonymous pupil from Coombe boys:

"I think the federation is a bad idea because the two schools will not get along well. I believe Beverley School will just bring Coombe down".

Anonymous pupil from Coombe Girls School:
"I think the idea is very good, and the two schools will work together very well."

STAFF POINTS OF VIEW

Geography teacher

Miss Jones

"I think it is very good! 100% brilliant! I think it will work very well.

"I also think the idea is great. If Coombe Girls carry on the way they are doing now, they will be absolutely brilliant, and so will Coombe Boys".
Mr Patterson

WHAT WE THOUGHT

"We think the idea is excellent! Especially as Mrs Campbell has done a great job with Coombe girls, she will do the same for Coombe boys now. But as you see in this article, many people think different things... some people think it a brilliant idea but some don't...."
